

...We felt ready to mainstream our learning and started Advocacy Activities...

Children-in-Charge-For Change

Children & Young People

"We became an active member of White Ribbon Alliance and Indu was elected Co-chair of WRAI. Later as a result of advocacy efforts of WRAI, the Government of India declared 11th April as a National Safe Motherhood Day.

In this phase we were identified as a Mother NGO by the GOI for Reproductive and Child Health (RCH) programme for the states of Gujarat and Rajasthan."

Safe Motherhood

"We had started an action research project in 1987 to understand Traditional Health & Healing Practices all over India, related to maternal and child health.. After several national and state level consultations we published a document 'Her Healing Heritage' in 1997."

Understanding the Linkage between Health & Credit

"CHETNA contributed extensively for the state government's HIV/AIDS awareness program for school children."

Towards Comprehensive Health Creating Awareness through Education & Training.

Children are daughters and sons of life's longing for itself...

As a significant segment of society, the child carries forward the legacy of humankind. However, the child is dependant on adults.

Men and women must ensure that the child and young, are nurtured, supported, informed and given an enabling environment to become Creative,

Caring, Conscious and Concerned to be responsible youths and adults.

An empowered child and youth can be an agent of change – to ensure balance and harmony in the society and environment.

CHETNA for Young People and Children

As long as women's identity remains confined in patriarchal stereotypes and notions, the fate of children faces a bleak future. The girls will have only the dis-empowered women as role models to follow, while the boys will grow up to be adults continuing to believe in the stereotype notion of the woman as powerless, as a consequence, weakening the survival and health of the larger community of humankind.

CHETNA believes, for a holistic healthy society, the disempowered Women, Young People and Children should be empowered so they can exercise their rights
